

Araf (Singleton) by JinHoo Ahn

Rules: Variation of Araf rules. Divide the grid into some regions formed of edge-adjacent squares. Each cell is part of one region, and each region should contain either one or two given numbers. If a region contains only one number, the area of that region must be represented by that number. If a region contains two numbers, the area of the region is strictly between those numbers.

Triplets